POPE LEO XIII NEARING THE END.

Forbidden by Physicians to Hole Audiences or Transact Even Trivial Business.

AMERICAN CLERGY RESTLESS.

Third Largest Hierarchy in the World Is Disposed to Demand Commensurate Recognition-Evidence of Dissatisfaction.

Speaks Correspondence of The Republic. Rome, July 22-Last Sunday Pope Let XIII appeared at a public function for the last time until the autumn. The occasion was at solemn high mass at St. Peters, when he gave the final benediction. Those who haw the aged pontiff, who looks a very shell of a man, readily believe the whisper that he is nearing his end and this is in reality his last appearance in the great Basilica. This rumor is so often floated that some rmile when it is repeated, but recently there has been unmistakable evidence that the end is not far away. He has been forbidden by his physicians to hold audiences or to trans-act even the most trivial business. Even the pilgrims, especially invited for the holy year, are turned away. On Thursday last over 200 pilgrims from Brazil were refused, aithough they had been promised that an exception would be made.

American Clergy Restless.

The Catholic Church in the United States The Catholic Church in the United States, it is said in high circles here, has most to hope and most to dread from this impending change. The restlessness and dissatisfaction of the American hierarchy is well known in Rome and causes great alarm. No heresy is feared, as it is often said. The Roman authorities look on the American church as perfectly orthodox and believe it will remain so. What they fear is the growing tendency of the American prelates to demand their rights as the third largest hierarchy in the world and the head of the most progressive world and the head of the most progressive and flourishing branch of the church. These they have not received in the past and the Roman court is not disposed to change Re-course unless it becomes imperative. Soveral impressive object lessons have been brought to the natice of the Roman been brought to the hotice of the Rousan prelates during this holy year. Fewer pil-grims have come from the United States than from any other country. Even South America has sent more. Of the hierarchy but two Archbishops have made especial visits, Archbishops Corrigan of New York and Kain of St. Louis. Archbishop Riordan of San Francisco came to Rume on other business early last winter and is not counted.

The failure of Cardinal Gibbons and of all of the other Metropolitans to respond to the Pope's Invitation is considered significant. Notwithstanding the contrary reports the offerings or Peter's pence from the United States during the jubiles year are less than usual, and in some cases so small as to call forth comment.

The wealthy and large archdiscess of St. Louis and less than $5,000, although the Archdiscess made personal appears. Archdisces made personal appears Archdisces made personal appears of the Cardinals remarked, he is hoping for promotion, which, it is predicted, will not come.

Among the grievances which the American Bishops have called to the attention of Rome is the injustice of keeping the church under the Propaganda Fide. It is the policy of the Vatican to call all countries missionary and therefore under the jurisdiction of the Propaganda, when the Government will not sign a concordant granting certain rights to the church. It is unreasonable to expect the United States to enter into such an agreement, although strengous efforis have recently been made in that direction. The Archdischop consider that masmuch as the church is perfectly free and flearishing under these conditions it is a hardship to exact a trenty before conferring liberty upon it.

The American hierarchy numbers fifteen Archbisbops, counting the Archbisbops of Manila. France has out seventeen, and if the two how Archbishops are created in the Northwest, as now contemplated, the United States will boost of us large a hierarchy as the elifest daughter of the church. In France the hierarchy is a power with which the Holy See always reckons, while in the United States the wishes of the Archbishops are systematically disregarded. Being the lifetime of the present Fondiff the American Bishops have given up all hope of remodying this condition. But their hopes are centered on the next occupant of Peter's chair.

Already a political faction of the Sacred College is formed of those favoring the claims of the United States and those who are approach to B. It is generally understood among the assignants for the honor that what will be accepted by the American Bishops. One on which they insist is a representative in the Cutin who will look after American interests. Hitherto it is claimed that the country has been misterpresented and injured by those to whom this task was assigned.

Satolli's Hostility.

is claimed that the country has been misrepresented and injured by those to whom this task was assigned.

Then open hostility of Cardinal Satolii is quoted to prove this point. He has been presented in churze of American affairs.
Last winter, while the question of the Christian Brothers teaching classics in the United States was before the Propaganda Fide. Cardinal Satolii, while nominally in favor of the brothers, in reality worked against them. His plan was to place the teaching of the classics in the hands of Jusian priests, to be sent from Rome. After the adverse docision he proposed this to Archbishop Risrian, who was here in the interest of the brothers. Mgr. Riordan currly refused to consider the scheme and said that the American Filerarchy would work out its own problems without seeking the importation of foreigners.

Another grievance held against the first apositoic delegate to the United States was his untriendiness to Archbishop Keane in the matter of Magnien's book on Father Hocker, Mgr. Keane was residing at the Canadian College. After the Italian translation of this book with Cardinal Satoli's preface, the authorities of the college, with the Cardinal's approval, asked Archbishop Keane to leave the institution, and his connection with so heretical a movement as described by Father Magnien could not fall to give scandal to the students.

This fissult to one of the foremost prelates of the United States caused intense feeling among Mgr. Keane's colleagues, and their bitter comment reached the ears of the Oppe himself, Many of the Cardinal's sympathized with the American hierarchy and in consequence Cardinal Satoli's while still in high favor with the Holy Father has little to expect when his successor is chosen.
No one now seriously thinks of this Cardimal as Leo's successor. They are very suspictous in Rome, and the old adags is no man can be Pope twice.

The partiality shown the so-called Catholice countries is another cause of discentent.
Those outside of Europe are merely pr

Icism.

All these points have been made uncomfortably plain to the Sacred College, and, according to an able ecclesiastic, who deplores these things, it is feared that the second Philip Nerl will come out of the West and ne will see great changes during the

LETTER FROM THE WIFE OF ONE OF OUR CONSULS IN CHINA.

Mrs. Nina Wilcox Writes From Hankow to Her Parents Here, Describing the Situation.

MRS. NINA WILCOX. Wife of the United States Consul to Hankow, China.

Mrs. Nina Wilcox, wife of Dector L. S. Wilcox, United States Consul at Hankow, China, has written an interesting letter to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Dickinson of No. 4730 Cottage avenue, in which she reviews the Chinese situation as it appears to her at the time of writing, June 24.

The tone of the letter is hopeful and is ground? Yet this is easily explained when supposed to reflect the lideas of the officials. Who are flocking into Hankow daily.

"We feel that we are in no immediate danger here, as the people seem to be peaceful enough, and we are such a distance from the seat of real disturbance. Besides, there are three men-of-war here now and three foreign companies of volunteer soliders, and we feel that we are amply protected. The Chinese Vicercy sent a letter to all the Consule declaring that if any of the foreigners were molested he would have the offenders decapitated, in order to demonstrate to the Boxers and their adherents that his guarantee of protection meant exactly what he said. He also sent 1,000 soldlers here to give weight to the warning.

"The foreigners here are not at all nervous, believing themselves safe from molestation and relying on the assurances of the Vicercy. Piday the authorities sent a fleet of gunboats up the river to protect the missionaries in the interior of the district, but they reported that there was no trouble threatening them.

"Under the circumstances which have arisen since I wrote you last, I fear our contemplated trip to Pekin and Japan will have to be postponed until the fall, at feast, unless, indeed, war should actually be declared. In that event, I suppose all the Consult will be recalled, anal you may see us home sooner than we had expected."

REED AGAINST EXPANSION.

Republican Statesman Not in Harmony With Imperialism,

Washington, July 28.-Great interest is felt in Washington in the course that ex-Speaker Reed may follow in the coming campaign. The belief is widely rumored that he will take no part whatever in the campaign, but if he determines to say nothing it is likely that, as was the case with Conkling during the Blaine campaign, the newspapers and the politicians will keep predding at him in the hope of getting some sharp expression from him which might serve for political purposes.

His feelings toward r'resident McKinley and Mark Hanna are not friendly, and he and Mark Hanna are not friendly, and he is extremely opposed to the voltey of expansion, even to the extent of having opposed the annexation of the said, and this may provoke some expression from him hostille to "imperialism." It is not likely that, feeling as he does about expansion, he will take the stump, and, in the absence of any expression whatever from him, the anti-imperialists will endeavor to make the most of his silence, as Blaine's exemises dat of the of his silence, as Blaine's enemies did of the silence of Conkling.

Several friends in Normandy and other suburbs were communicated with, but no Several friends in Normandy and other subarbs were communicated with, but no one had seen or heard anything of him. Since then all efforts to obtain a trace of him have been unavailing. Henry Zeitz, the son, said last night that his father aid not carry more than a lew dollars with him. His clothes and other belongings at the house were not disturbed, which would seem to incleate that there was not premeatation on the part of the old man.

The missing man is five feet five meches tail, weighs about 159 pounds and has small black chin whiskers and black shebburns, streaked with gray. He was dressed in a brown suit and wore a black hat.

"Some years ago," said his son, Heary, last night, "my father sustained severe injuries in a fait. Since that time he has doctored constantly. His complaint, however, did not seem to affect his spirits, as he was always in a line humor. No one ever heard him threaten to make away with himself, and I do not think the idea of suicide ever entered his head. His prolonged absence is causing us much worry, especially as we do not know which way to turn to find him. Besides my brothers and an aunt, he had no other relatives in this country."

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

George Starr, 82 Years Old, Cuts Artery in His Leg. Expecting to Bleed to Death.

KNIFE WAS NOT A SHARP ONE.

Wound Is Ugly, but Not Dangerous -He Was Killing Squabs When the Self-Destruction Notion Seized Him.

George W. Starr, 82 years old, living at No. 1120 Cass avenue, was sent to the City Hospital yesterday for observation, after having tried to commit suicide by cutting an artery in his left leg.

The old man was killing some equabs in the yard in the rear of his house about 5 o'clock yesterday morning, when he suddenly was seized with the idea of self-destruction, and, turning attention from the fowls to himself, made an unsuccessful ef-fort to end his existence.

The knife used by the old man was jagged and not very sharp, otherwise his attempt at suicide might have been successful. He succeeded, however, in inflicting on himself an ugly wound.

A few months ago Starr hurt himself severely by falling from a Fourth street cable ear. He tried to recover damages from the St. Louis Transit Company, but only succeeded in getting them to pay his doctor's bill. It is said that the injuries received when he fell from the car affected Starr's mind. His explanation of his attempt to commit suicide was so strange that Doctor Vogel of the City Dispensary had him sent to the City Hospital for observation.

Starr said at the dispensary that he took sick at the sight of blood, while killing the squabs, and for that reason turned the knife upon himself. Later on he said that be tried to kili himself because he was suffering from heart disease, which, he knew, was incurable. He then told of his trouble with the transit company, and said that be was disappointed at his failure to secure damages. He was told at the dispensary that he had cut the wrong artery in his leg, and that he should have cut a larger one if he wanted to bleed to death. Starr said that he had been a veterinary surgeon for many years and that he thought he knew enough about the human body to be able to find an important artery, and that he was sorry that he had been so careless. He has no family living, and his nearest relative is Henry Buehle, a member of the Fire Department.
